attended the first annual dance,

luncheon was served. During

BUSY BIDEFORD

The Stork was welcomed back to our little town last week and brought a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kuchma, at the Section House. We hear that Mike is wearing the "smiles" that wont come off. Hearty Congratulations to you, Mr. and Mrs. Mike.

The Stork whispered to us he will be here in the Spring-time to make a certain little home complete. Come again, Mr. Stork, yours is the greatest patriotic work in the whole wide world.

There was a large attendance of town and country women at the home of Mrs. McLeod to discuss the program of the Womens Institute for the coming session. Business was briskly driven through by the President, Mrs. N. D. Robinson. The delegate to the coming convention, in March, will be Mrs. McLeod, Senr. of Bideford. The next meeting will be a demonstration on the art of skirt-making. It will be held March 8th, at the home of Mrs. P. Robinson.

We were visited by the Monitor police, this week, and the question was asked the Newsman, "What is he here for?" But no one seemed to know.

Perhaps the Bideford Bard's threat in the skit of this week was taken seriously.

Miss Dolly Shannon is home again, we are glad to have her with us once more.

A connoisseur in babies tells us that the wee Bideford boys are the finest bunch of healthy youngsters to be seen in all Alberta. Yes, we agree they would certainly take a prize at a baby show. Much credit is due to their mothers for the skill shown in pulling them through the trying times of teething and all baby ailments.

There was a little man, and he had a little farm
Near the trail that winds to Bue B.
Now he met a little dame (sure ye all can give her name)
Who begged for wounded Tommies o'er the sea.

She held a little bag, with a little Red Cross flag,
'Twas to help to clothe a little refugee
But the man said he'd "no cash," 'twas a statement very rash
For it proved that he a "Vagabond" must be.

"A consistent man" said he, "is what I mean to be
I can't donate because I'm stony broke"
Quoth the dame in repartee "Sure its logical ye'll be Sam English will arrest ye—'tis no joke."

Pray take warning, ye who plead, that you cannot help the need
Of the sufferers who lied to make us free,
Beware of inconstancy, if you've "no means of subsistence,"
Hoping thus to shirk assistance,
Off ye'll go—without resistance
For the law allows no "Vags" in Buey B.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm Doel wish to take this means of expressing their thanks to the kind friends and neighbors who contributed so generously for their benefit, as it is almost impossible to thank each one individually.

Alberta Hail Insurance

(The following letter appeared in the Borderline Budget, Loversa, and is being published here by request.)

To the Editor,—

Sir,—On January 11th we attended a meeting of the Claremont U. F. A., at which the New Hail Ins. Act was discussed.

It was soon evident that the old five-year plan was very much in disfavor with the farmers of this part of Alberta. The Hail Board directors are aware of this fact and are making desperate efforts to put through another plan of insurance, and if the ratepayers of Alberta do not fight it hard they will likely succeed.

The new Act was read by the Secty and it is much like the old Act, nicely camouflaged and fixed over so as to at first fool almost any one.

The main bait they have, and it takes well too, is, if a farmer does not wish to have such insurance he can, by notifying the municipal secty before a certain date, withdraw his acreage and so save himself the greatest part of the cost. This privilege he now has to a certain extent.

Now as to the flat rate tax on all land, this was not mentioned. Neither was mention made of the limit of amount to which the insured was liable. If there was no limit it would not do to speak of it as it might not take well.

Now, to understand the new plan it would stump a Philadelphia lawyer. It seems to be a double-bitted Act, and if the Hail Insurance Board can get it into their hands they can sure cut which ever-way is to their benefit.

In the Act mention is made several times of the part the U. F. A. representatives had in the Hail Insurance, which is more camouflage to make the farmers think that they have a voice at all times in the doings of the Hail Board. But to prove that the farmers of Cammer Municipality have no voice in this matter after the Act is once adopted, Councillor Smith stated that Secty Holt had written to the Hail Board asking how the coming election was to be conducted and could get no definite reply. If the Council cannot get information would it not satisfy anyone that there was a nigger in the hail insurance woodpile which they are diligently trying to shadow.

I was grieved to see a municipal hail advocate's feelings ruffled when it was claimed by some that Mr. Beynon, a municipal hail officer, received $3000 per year, and he replied that Mr. Beynon only received $1200 a year, and it was too bad that he should have only such a small salary.

I most heartily agree with him that the gentleman mentioned draws such a small salary, and I think it is the duty of the ratepayers of Alberta to do away with this insurance so that he and probably other underpaid servants of the Hail Insurance Board may be freed from their labors, and so be free to enter other occupations where their services may be better remunerated.

Guy Cadwell.

Each issue of The Nor-West Farmer is full of valuable information that any up-to-date farmer can use to his own direct advantage. It is edited for the whole farm family. If any reader wants information on any subject relating to either their farm problems or anything else The Nor-West Farmer information bureau will get that information for them. Their official veterinarian and legal adviser is at the service of every subscriber, free of all charge. If you have a weed problem, a soil drifting problem, a feed problem, tractor, automobile, or gas engine trouble of any kind, read The Nor-West Farmer, and you will soon get a wealth of ideas from the experience of other farmers who have experienced and solved similar difficulties. The Nor-West Farmer is a "round-table" around which the best farmers of Western Canada meet. Will you be one of them?

Note and Comment

Two young men from one of the Eastern Townships who came to the Bright Lights for some experience got it and will know enough in the future not to keep the guests awake all night when stopping at a hotel. A fine of $5.00 and costs in each case was imposed by one of our local J. P.'s.

—Coronation Review.

Our young bloods still persist in trying to paint those tank towns, up west, red. Guess the contents of that "oil-can" must have been a trifle over-proof.

To promote the systematic saving of money by groups is the purpose behind the War Savings Society. Experience shows that people through combination often do better work than they do individually, the individual resolution being strengthened by that of others.

Ten or more persons may organize themselves into a War Savings Society, and a charter is issued by the National War Savings Committee. Once formed, effort is directed towards popularizing saving and inducing as many persons as possible to buy War Savings and Thrift Stamps.

The Red Cross, Schools, Farm Organizations, etc., should form these Savings Societies. It costs nothing and pays well.

While L. Worth, farmer, was standing near the stove at his home, warming himself, last Friday, after having done the chores, the heat expanded his eye, which flew out of the socket, and in doing so cut quite a deep gash in his eyelid. It might have been a serious accident but for the fact that the eye was glass.

Nothing New

Same old get-up, dress and tub,
Same old breakfast, same old club;
Same old feeling, same old blue,
Same old story—nothing new.

Same old giggles, smiles and eyes,
Same old kisses, same old sighs,
Same old quarrel, same old adieu,
Same old story—nothing new.

Same stern father making shuff,
Leading man all teeth and cuffs,
Same soubrette—still twenty-two,
Same old jokes, too—nothing new.

Same old crying—only more
Same old business, walking floor,
Same old kitchy-cooey—cool
Same old baby—nothing new.

A new wheat named Ruby is reported to have been developed at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. It is a selection from the progeny of a cross between Downy Riga and Red Fife. Ruby wheat ripens as a rule, a week or so earlier than Marquis. The kernels are somewhat similar to those of Red Fife, being hard and of the popular reddish brown color. The heads are beardless, with straw a little shorter than Marquis and of good strength. It yields a trifle less per acre than Marquis, and produces flour of excellent color and high baking strength.

It is estimated that three per cent of the wheat crop of North America is destroyed by bunt or stinking smut. This means an annual loss of about 10,000,000 bushels of wheat in Canada alone. The presence of this smut also injures the grain for milling purposes and lowers the market value. Bunt is not always easy to notice when the grain is growing. During the threshing many of the smut kernels are broken and the spores lodge on the sound grain. When these are shown the spores begin to grow and infect the young seedling. The smut grows inside the plant and into the kernel which it reduces to masses of spores.

This smut can be prevented by killing the spores clinging to the seed. The safest, surest and best way to do this is to treat the seed with the formaldehyde solution which will kill the spores but will not injure germination.

The grain should be thoroughly fanned to remove all the smut kernels or spore balls as the solution cannot penetrate to kill the spores inside.

You can't expect your hens to lay well unless they have facilities for taking a bath. This doesn't mean, of course, that you must give them a tub of water. Hens naturally take their bath in sand or earth. It is just as necessary though as a tub is to you. Have a box of earth or sand where the direct sunlight will fall upon it several hours a day. A little sulphur added to the contents will help keep vermin in check.

When feeding corn to poultry it should not be forgotten that when using the whole grain fowls can readily obtain a full meal with very little exercise. This is detrimental to egg production inasmuch as birds are apt to become too fat. It is much better to have the corn cracked and scattered in the litter so that the flock will have to work for it. Oats when fed whole are not eagerly eaten unless prepared in some way. A new oat called "Liberty", originated at the Central Experimental Farm, and now being introduced into public use, threshes out free from hull, and has therefore a special value in poultry feeding.

These points are brought out in a recently issued bulletin, No. 91 of the Dominion Experimental Farms, and obtainable from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, which deals fully with poultry feeds and feeding.
